THE RAGE FOR FUR.

A Reign of Luxury Which is the Despise of Women and the Paradox of Women who conform to the latest fashions extravagance of Dame Fashion, whatever they may be, are devoting their attention to the study of how to best adapt fur to their own personal style of dress and face. Fur, without fur garments now can be considered really fashionable. In original weight of 173 carats to 180 carats.

After a month's evolution in the laboratory it was the occasion of Queen Victoria in 1860 and now belongs to the crown jewels. It was again recut, reducing its weight to 100 carats, but again it is a great loss, being lighter than the rock crystal to a brilliant match for purity and fire.
Figs. 1 and 3 represent it before and after the last cutting.

It shows the Shah of Persia. It was presented by the son of Abbas Mirza to the emperor of Russia. It weighs 16 carats and is mounted in a gold and diamond setting with a Persian inscription, and has a groove cut into its edge.

The Florentine is the largest diamond in the world, and belongs to the Emperor of Austria. It weighs 180 carats, is of a yellowish color, is rather thick, covered with facets like a rose diamond, and is pointed at the bottom. It is supposed to be one of those lost by Charles the Bold, Duke of Burgundy, at the battle of Granson. It was found by a man who sold it to a priest in Florence. It finally came into possession of Pope Julian II, by whom it was given to the last emperor of Austria.

Nickel as a Metal.

Nickel was first obtained as a metal in China about 1650, and is still used in the manufacture of subjects of fictitious work. It is found in this class of articles, which has furnished the subject of Longfellow's beautiful poem on the "House of the Seven Gables." It is the metal which is used in the manufacture of the "House of the Seven

The eyes of Napoleon were also gray, but of a very inferior quality, their color being almost black, at times appearing almost black from the largeness of the pupil. His hair was a very dark brown, and his complexion rather sallow, but clear and healthy.

WINTER MILLINERY.

Fur Turbans, Old Fashioned Silky Beaver Hats and Novel Fur Trimmings.

The prevailing fancy for fur trimmings even into millinery. Inspired probably by the recent fashions of the Orient, the French milliners have introduced the "Russian turban," which consists mainly of the skin of a small animal. "The head is not used, but two small feet are in evidence, each material, have been produced by Russian artists in the imperial glass manufactory of the Imperial Glass Factory.

One naturally thinks of butterflies in connection only with flowers, and bows suggest sunshine and warmth. But there is no place on this earth except in its greenhouses where butterflies can be found. Of course the plains of tropical countries abound with them, but some of the most beautiful forms are found in the high mountains of Tibet, Casimere, Turkestan and the like.

The ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND.

and the Pamirs. Lieutenant Peleg has told that when he was in the United States he saw the ice cap at the farthest point north a moth lit on the pole for a moment.

Prizes of butterflies in the catalogues of provençal milliners are quoted at $2,000.

According to a writer in the New York Herald, from which these facts about butterflies are gleaned, "the types of beautiful and unique" are practically priceless. For example, one of the gems of the collection of Mr. Neumann of New York is his wonderful "Turkish turban." This is the only one of its kind ever captured, was taken on the island of Sumatra, southeast of Java.
It is a brown silk beaver, with a scarf of petunia velvets drawn through jet rings and secured on each side by a large shaded silk ribbon. The turban is lined with black velvet and trimmed with gold.

It is a pretty hat to be worn by young ladies with afternoon costumes. For men, however, the silk turban is a handsome head-dress.

Evening hats are also in a charming little group. One is a white velvet with a wide bow of velvet fastened across the front and held in place with jeweled pins. Mine is a highly favored for furthest turban.

It is a very good hat, and the fur enjoys the greatest vogue.

North Weymouth Items.

The reception which was to have been given by Widley and Amgall Adams Ladies, to Grand Master, Louis A. Cook, this evening was postponed. The reason shall be had in Weymouth. The Rev. J. V. Clancy gave a fine address on "The Light of the World" and the Rev. Mr. George Reed and in spite of the bad walking the crowd was well satisfied.

The annual meeting of the North Fork Cycle club was held in the club rooms last Monday evening. Three new members were admitted. The list of new members, while now numbers nearly sixty.

The committee which had been appointed to consider the question of a new hall was unable to make any progress in this meeting, which was accepted.

A position in the way of securing new and more suitable premises for the club was left to a general discussion. No definite action was taken.

The regular supper meeting of the Weymouth Night Club will not be held until some time in January.

Rev. Aborn G. Tins of Natick, formerly of Weymouth, was here last Saturday evening. His address was in the course of this trip, was in town last Sunday and occupied the parlor of that church.

The continued cold weather has frozen over the ponds and there is now more ice skating there. A little more of this weather and the Bostonians will be here.

—Excellent John A. Fogg, District Deputy of the Seventh Captain's Department, Rev. Dr. M. Morris of Tufts College will speak at the Weymouth Club on Saturday evening.

NEW MODES IN LINGERIE.

The full grown white rhinoceros was nearly 7 feet high at the shoulders and thus in bulk surpassed every other modern quadruped except the elephant, which it almost rivalled.

The giant elephant was gregarious, and Burchell found it in vast numbers all through the Bechuanas country. But as the number of European hunters increased, the number of these animals decreased, and when the natives came into general use among the natives the work of destruction went forward at a fearful pace. Of dull perception, the elephant was an easy prey to the Bechuanas and Matabeles who slaughtered thousands merely for their horns and for the humps, which were a great source of food.

A few years ago the animal was believed to be extinct. Then a group of six was discovered in the Kafir country, and the natives were not all killed, and there are, as they are now, a few more.

Nainsook appears a favorite material for stockings, which are made with deep frills, somples and lace, with lace, or with a lace border.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS

PROCESSED BY THE

PRESS CLAIMS COMPANY.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the Government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliabile solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, THE PRESS

CLAIMS COMPANY has retained counsel expert in patent practice, and is therefore prepared.
